SEVEN KILLED WHEN BRITISH PLANE CRASHES

Cross-channel Machine Makes Forced Landing in Water.

ONE BODY FOUND

American Tourists are Reported Members Of Party.

FOLKESTONE, Eng., June 17.—(INS)—Seven persons are reported to have lost their lives today when a British Imperial Airways cross-channel plane made a forced landing in the English channel, three and one-half miles southeast of Dungeness.

Engine Trouble Blamed

The body of one of those killed was brought to Folkestone aboard a rescue boat four hours after the crash occurred, together with five survivors.

The remaining six of the 11 passengers who took off in the plane from Croydon aerodrome earlier in the morning are reported to have lost their lives when the plane crashed.

It was reported there were a number of American tourists aboard the plane, but whether any of these were among the dead could not be learned.

The plane was bound from Croydon to Le Bourget, Paris, and Switzerland. Shortly before 11:30 this morning the pilot of the machine, a giant twin-motored Handley Page, encountered engine trouble, and advised by wireless that he was landing in the channel.

Survivors Landed

First reports stated that all had been rescued, but the harbor master of Folkestone was authorized to search for the plane, which was seen in the morning.

IN THE farm bill settlement President Hoover achieves his first victory in party discipline. Only three Republican senators held out against him on the debenture plan, two of them, "regulars," one an insurgent.

There will be no debenture scheme, paying a bounty to middlemen that export wheat AFTER they have bought it from the farmers.

YOU read in the announcement "$500,000,000 for farmers." That amount of money will be provided in a sincere effort to help farmers with their surplus crops.

Nothing will solve the farm problem but better methods in line with modern industry.

A farmer walks a thousand miles a day from the barn to the house, and up and down fields, earning a poor living. A worker in the General Motors factory stays in one place, while his work passes before him, and he makes a good living.

MORE important than the flight of the three courageous Frenchmen across the Atlantic ocean was the beginning of commercial flying across the continent on Friday.

Mayor Walker, of New York, handed a thermos bottle full of water from the Atlantic ocean to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, to be delivered to Mayor Croyer, at Los Angeles.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT had flown from Washington to Long Island to start on the first organized railroad and airplane trip from New York to Los Angeles via New York Central, airplane and Santa Fe.

In a few days Gen. Aftersbury, of the Pennsylvania, starts his transcontinental flying service, under the supervision of Co. Lindbergh.

The Atlantic ocean is now two days from the Pacific for flying purposes.

The youth of another generation will say "frightfully slow."

He says in the New York Times that the "25 or 30 papers of 10,000 circulation" will have a value of $100,000,000.

This would be a value of $4,000,000 for each newspaper circulating 10,000, very interesting to local publishers.

E. J. FITZGERALD DIES SUDDENLY IN HOME HERE

State Warden of K. of C. And Former Deputy Sheriff.

52 YEARS OLD

Funeral Services Will be Held at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Edward J. Fitzgerald, 52, state warden of the Knights of Columbus, former Columbiana county deputy sheriff and for 35 years foreman of the decorating shop of the Standard Pottery company, died suddenly of acute indigestion at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in his home, 413 West Fifth street.

Mr. Fitzgerald was born here February 4, 1877, a son of the late Edward and Mary Fitzgerald. He was a member of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, Buckeye club and Carroll Council, No. 599, Knights of Columbus.

He leaves three daughters, the Misses Phyllis, Helen and Mary Fitzgerald, at home, and three sisters, Mrs. D. B. Barker and Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, East Liverpool, and Mrs. William McSwaney, of Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the St. Aloysius church, in charge of the Rev. Father C. J. Mahoney, of Mount Maria, Canton. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

William E. Hass, of Delaware, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, today named Gratian V. Dugan, district deputy and state advocate, and P. W. Broderick, grand knight, both of Wellsville, to represent the state council at the funeral.

FIREMEN VACATE CENTRAL STATION

The Central fire department moved to its temporary quarters in the old Standard pottery today pending erection of the new $50,000 structure.

Telephone equipment and the automatic fire alarm system have been transferred.

The city street department will move to the old West End fire station in Lisbon street, which will be its permanent home.

Razing of the old street department garage and fire station, which were recently sold to Peter Milliron, will probably start tomorrow. About two weeks will be required to clear the site.

TWO AUTOISTS FINED $50 EACH

Two motorists, charged with reckless driving, were fined $50 and costs today by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon. They were Gilbert DeJane, Salem, arrested in the Lisbon-Leontonia road, and Clair Jeffreys, also of Salem, who was taken into custody in the Salem-Leontonia road. Both arrests were made by Sheriff W. J. Barlow.

"YELLOW BIRD" PASSENGER FETED

Blamed for Failure to Reach Paris, But Wears Clothes Loaned by Lotti, Sponsor of Flight.

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 17.—Wearing borrowed clothes, but in high spirits and still convinced that he was on the path to Lindberghian fame, Arthur Schreiber, 22-year-old Portland, Maine, youth who stowed away in the transatlantic monoplane "Yellow Bird," greeted American and European newspaper men in the hotel Lotti here today.

The daring youth, who is being feted by the French nation although he is held responsible for the failure of the "Yellow Bird" to reach Paris on its flight from Old Orchard, Maine, was dressed in clothes loaned to him by Armeno Lotti, Jr., sponsor of the flight and radio operator during the transatlantic voyage.

The garments proved a good fit, however, and Schreiber was beaming with self-satisfaction as the army of journalists flocked into the hotel to meet him. Schreiber is staying at the hotel owned and operated by Armeno Lotti, sr., father of the flight's financial backer.

"Paris is a swell town and France is a grand nation," were Schreiber's first words. "But I'll be glad to get back to the good old U. S. A. and rejoin my family in Portland."

Schreiber tried his hand at speaking to some of the French newspaper men present in their native language. He had some success, and explained that he had picked up a smattering of French while directing amateur theatricals in his home town.

SALEM MOTORIST GOES TO JAIL

Charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated John Oana, Salem, was held for a hearing under $1,000 bond by Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimmerman, Lisbon, today, after entering a plea of not guilty to the charge.

Oana's arrest followed a crash on the Cox highway west of Salem about 10 o'clock last night, when an automobile, alleged to have been driven by Oana, collided with a truck owned by the Hostetter Trucking company, of Akron, driven by H. S. Perrell. Oana's car was wrecked and the headlights on the truck damaged.

Oana was arrested by Constable A. C. Greenameyer, Damascus, and brought to the county jail.

John Conga, Salem, who was in the Oana machine, was fined $50 and costs by Justice Zimmerman on a charge of intoxication. Both men were remanded to the county jail.

GENERAL BOOTH DIES IN LONDON

LONDON, June 17.—(INS)—The world today mourned the death of General Bramwell Booth, son of the founder of the Salvation Army and until several months ago its leader.

The general had been in precarious health for some time, but had been reported improving and his sudden relapse and death last night came as a severe shock. He was 73 years old.

DRIVER FLEES AFTER CRASH

A "hit-skip" motorist, carrying a license said to have been issued in Wellsville, crashed into a touring car driven by Calvin Adams, State street, in the Park road at 11:30 o'clock last night. No one was injured.

The number was turned over to Patrolman George Kidder who made an investigation.

Marion T. Meyers Also Held in Theora Hix's Death.

COLUMBUS, O., June 17.—(INS)—Whether Dr. James H. Snook, or Marion T. Meyers, or both, shall be charged with the revolting murder of 25-year-old Theora Hix, Ohio State university co-ed, will be determined as a result of a conference of investigators which is being held today.

The probe is being centered on Dr. Snook.

City detectives, who examined the automobile of Snook, member of the State university faculty, declared this morning that they found stains resembling blood in the professor's coupe.

POTTERS HOSTS TO 18,000 AT CASCADE PARK

Fifth Annual Reunion Held at New Castle, Pa.

W. T. BLAKE GUEST

Baby Show, Athletic Program, Dancing Featured.

More than 18,000 men, women and children, hailing from all sections of Eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, attended the fifth annual reunion of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters at Cascade park, New Castle, Pa., on Saturday.

By special trains, in automobiles that were countless, in busses, over traction lines and not a few walking from nearby places, they came and went as the hours fleeted by.

Names of winners in the athletic events as well as the box score of the Laughlin-Jackson baseball game are in the sports section. Turn to page eleven.

Twice the majority of them sat down on the spacious grass-like plots afforded for the purpose and are out of well-filled baskets in the way that ever brings the picnic appeal. Crowds jammed the various eating places in the park. Filled to capacity they later raced the numerous points of interest and enjoyed the concessions, baseball game, dancing, athletic events, boxing bouts, the baby show and the penny scramble for the children. There was not a dull moment for anybody.

Once, just about noon, when many were eating, lowering clouds darkened the meeting ground of the assembled merry-makers. Drops of rain fell for a few minutes. It seemed momentarily as if all of the planned outside departures would have to be carried out under handicaps, but soon an ideal weather situation followed for the remainder of the day.

MAN HELD AS ALLEGED "CON"

Elmer Viletic Suspect in New Brighton Swindle.

Alleged to have swindled a New Brighton, Pa., man out of more than $300 in a confidence game, Elmer Viletic, 35, Midland, is being held in the jail here today pending arrival of extradition papers which will be sought for his removal to Beaver county, Pa., where he will answer to a charge of larceny.

Viletic was arrested Saturday night upon a warrant issued here June 7, after his automobile is alleged to have figured in a collision in the River road with another motor car driven by Arnold Fleisch, of West Second street.

A Beaver county detective came to East Liverpool today with a warrant signed by Chief of Police Fred Fitzpatrick of New Brighton and issued by Justice of the Peace J. Walter Lewis, New Brighton.

Acting upon the advice of his attorney, Joseph Stone, Beaver, Viletic, declined to accompany the detective to Pennsylvania. Attorney G. Jay Clark conferred with the prisoner at the city jail before he announced his refusal to return.

RADIO STATION HONORS PAINTER

A program dedicated to Arthur J. Green, Alpha street painter, was broadcast by station NRH at Heredia, Costa Rica, at 10:40 o'clock last night, Green said today.

With a home-made short-wave length radio set, which he built, Green picked up the program at his home. Selections which were played by an orchestra during the program were "My Country 'Tis of Thee," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Lucky Lindy." Green said that his name was called before and after each number by the station announcer, who although Spanish spoke to him in broken English.

Green said that his 10-year-old daughter, Pauline, received a message from Miss Lydia Marin, 16, who spoke from NRH.

GEORGE FREEMAN IS FINED $100

George Freeman, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor. Freeman was arrested in the Terry Hotel in Second street by Patrolman James Haley, Saturday night.

Joseph Polimeter and J. D. Dawson, whose automobiles were tagged in Walsh alley Saturday night, forfeited bonds of $2 each on parking charges.

HUNDREDS FLEE HOMES AS FOUR CITIES ARE HIT

Scores are Injured; Property Damage Extensive.

COLLEGE ROCKED

Six Persons Reported Buried in Landslides; Floods Feared.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 17.—(INS)—Eight persons are known to be dead and scores injured as the result of an earthquake which rocked a large portion of New Zealand today.

LAVA ENGULFS JAPANESE TOWNS

LONDON, June 17.—(INS)—Heavy loss of life is feared as the result of eruption of the Komagatake volcano in Japan, a Central News dispatch from Tokyo stated today.

Three nearby villages have been engulfed by the lava stream, the message states and although no check-up of the casualties has been made, it is feared they will be large.

The eruption was accompanied by a sharp earthquake, throwing the population into a panic. Thousands took refuge in boats, as the earth trembled with the quakes. Considerable damage is reported from the tremors, with railway lines particularly affected.

Extent of Casualties Not Known.

The cities of Christ Church, Nelson, Westport and Colport, were chiefly affected by the tremor, and the population of this city fled from their homes in terror when the quake came.

Damage throughout the country is extensive. The full extent of the casualties probably will not be known for some time.

All towns of the north end of South Island were affected by the tremor. A number of children were reported to have been injured when several schools were wrecked. Electric pier houses were demolished, crippling communications, with the result that wide areas have been isolated since the shocks occurred.

Six persons were reported to have been buried in landslides in various areas. Serious floods are threatening the city of Westport.

Windows Broken in Wellington.

In the city of Wellington the population ran to the streets in terror when the shocks rocked the houses there, breaking windows, crumbling chimneys and causing other damage.

Westport suffered extensive damage. The tower of the town post-office collapsed, severing communication with the outside world, as all telegraph and telephone lines ran through the building.

Nelson colleges were badly damaged and two students were seriously injured by falling masonry. Several others suffered slight injuries.

In Wanganui, the earthquake was felt while a case was being heard in the town court. The magistrate and lawyers hurriedly ran from the swaying building and prisoners housed in another portion of it were set free temporarily.

In many districts electric service was disrupted and business was at a standstill.

Balloting in Primaries

East Liverpool voters have 57 days to devote to the study of the qualifications of 58 candidates—49 Republicans and nine Democrats—who seek preferment in the respective primaries on August 13, when nominees for municipal offices at the November election will be chosen.

With the exception of the council presidency and the municipal court judgeship there will be contests for all places on the G. O. P. ticket, while the Democrats, who unless names are written in, will not have a complete ticket for the fall balloting, have one ward fight and a two-man battle for the mayoralty on their hands.

Chief interest will center in the race for the Republican mayoralty place which is sought by ten candidates. In addition, contests for other offices, including council, should prove a magnet in drawing electors to the polls.

An important duty falls to the lot of the citizen in the primary balloting, for in East Liverpool he or she will pass judgment upon the qualifications of candidates who seek places in the management of a $32,000,000 corporation. In other words, the voters are the stockholders upon whom rests the responsibility of selecting a directorate to handle this huge business enterprise.

Electors should give as much thought and study to the selection of party nominees as they do to the final balloting in the fall election. It is to the interest of all citizens that both parties name able men. Fitness for office should motivate the decision of Republicans and Democrats who go to the polls.

Study the candidates and be prepared to vote intelligently.

“Miss Ohio”

Ohio does other notable things in addition to industrial, cultural and political accomplishments. She produces beautiful girls and the decision of the judges at the Galveston contest does not weaken one bit the certainty that Miss Ohio, otherwise Miss Dorothy Jean Davis of Massillon, was the most beautiful one of the 34 entrants.

John Held, Jr., whom we all know and respect for the tickling thrills of his pictures, and McClelland Barclay who draws beautiful girls disporting themselves on magazine covers, voted for Miss Davis. Rolla Taylor, San Antonio painter, also showed good taste and marked a ballot for Miss Ohio.

King Vidor, Nicholas Murray, Max Herzberg and Dawson Watson voted for the winner, Miss Irene Ahlberg, stenographer from New York City. Murray and Herzberg, both New Yorkers, may have let patriotism stand in their way. But Ohio does not have to alibi. More pretty girls can be seen in a 15-minute ride in this state than there are Christmas derbies in the eastern state and as for really beautiful girls—they are so numerous that they don't even attract attention any more.

All patriotism aside, wouldn't King Solomon and his stable of many beautiful ladies have stepped aside in abject shame and dejection had they been on the reviewing stand at Galveston? Tastes differ; Solomon might not have had the flair for delicate curves so dear to the modern eye, but if Solomon enjoyed the sight of lumps and bulges, that was his privilege.

Dorothy Jean didn't win, but Ohio is still backing her. Ohioans don't need blue ribbons on their beauties to make the natives of other states rubber and admire.

Education's Achievement

Commencement is over. The laughter and gaiety of the graduating season have faded and the empty halls of school buildings echo with footsteps that will not be there again until the fall season. In a few days all the tears of parting will be dried away and young faces will be turned to the world to find there some work which they can do. A strange mixture of laughter and tears are commencements—the arousing of sweet old memories and the inspiration of earnest new hopes.

What will these thousands of young graduates find to do? Will they venture forth into an easier world than their fathers and mothers did? Has the expense of their education been justified in social betterment? Will the community be better because of their years of education?

Their worth will not be measured directly in dollars and cents. It must be measured by their value as citizens, as residents of East Liverpool or another community which they adopt as home. Their education at public expense should have done something to make them better people in a social sense.

The most important consideration, however, is the improvement of the individual outlooks of the graduates. Are there 135 persons in the graduating class of East Liverpool high school whose lives will be a little happier for the chance which they have been offered to improve themselves? Will the daily routine of living be brighter, will ideals be higher and will life be more pleasant because of education?

These are the questions which citizens ask as they see the freshness of hope with which high school graduates face the world. The answer at commencement time, with its symbolic ceremonies indicating achievement, is always positive. The world must certainly be bettered by the presence of young persons trained for service and conscious of the force of idealism.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—Time is slipping away at such a rate that the reapportionment of Congressional representation is becoming something for representatives in congress to worry about rather acutely. The constitution of the United States provides that every ten years a census of population shall be taken and representation in the lower house of congress be re-adjusted in accordance with the figures revealed. No such reapportionment was made when the returns from the fourteenth census, taken in 1920, came in and there has been much criticism of the failure of congress to act. Now that the question of appropriations to pay for the taking of the fifteenth census next year is a live question before congress, the reapportionment matter looms.

Congress is in a dilemma. The house already, in the opinion of many members, is an unwieldy body, having too large a membership to function swiftly. More than forty minutes time is required merely to call the roll of the 435 members. If the same mathematical formula for apportioning members of congress that was used in the 1910 reapportionment were applied to the population to be shown in 1930, a considerable number of members would be added to the house of representatives. In past reapportionments there has been a sort of unwritten rule that no state's representation should be diminished. The first congress had 105 members in the lower house, or one member for about every 33,000 of population. As the country grew a constitutional amendment was proposed providing that there should be one member for every 30,000 of population. This failed of ratification by a sufficient number of states but had it been adopted the 1930 census would give up approximately 2,400 representatives in congress. Such growth was not dreamed of in the early days of the Republic. It is clear that so numerous a body could not be efficient.

But there are very serious obstacles to the alternatives presented. There have been shifts and doubtless will continue to be shifts in the population, the most general and most important one being the constantly accelerating movement of population to the cities. At present there is one representative to every 211,600 of population. Two bills which received careful consideration have so far failed of passage. One would have increased the membership to 483 and the other to 400. But even with these big increases, the population shifts have been such that under the first bill eleven states would have lost representatives and eight states gained, while under the second, two states would have lost and sixteen have gained.

It would be idle to suggest that the Empire state of New York has not gained in population in the last two decades, yet New York state would lose a representative. New York City has gained tremendously but some rural sections have lost. One reason for New York's prospective loss is readily found in New York's gain of two representatives. Large numbers of persons have moved across the river to Jersey City, Hoboken, Elizabeth, Newark, and other New Jersey cities. Many of them work in New York City but are counted as New Jerseyites.

Michigan's gain is striking. One might almost say that one man, Henry Ford, has given Michigan four additional representatives in congress. The sensational rise of Detroit to a city of more than a million population is responsible and that population increase is due to the automobile industry. The gain in North Carolina is due to the migration of the New England textile mills to that state. That same migration, it will be recalled, had a material effect in putting North Carolina into the Republican column politically. The gain of a representative in Oklahoma can be traced to the development of the oil fields in that state during the last two decades, especially the last one. Arizona gains one member. The great irrigation projects which have made it possible to grow bumper crops of wide variety in the desert are responsible for that increase.

Florida, obviously, owes her gain to the land boom and the development of the citrus and vegetable industries while California's record gain of six representatives in congress is due to a number of causes, all of absorbing interest. There is the citrus fruit industry, other fruits and vegetables, oil, the movies of Hollywood, and many other places within the state, and the climate which has attracted residents from every other part of the Union.

Q. Is there a law in the United States that all air passengers must be equipped with parachutes? F. W. S. A. In the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps all aviators and passengers must be equipped with parachutes. However, this does not apply to civil aviation.

Q. Was Lucien Cary, author of The Duke Steps Out, ever a prize fighter? J. P. G. A. Mr. Cary is said to know nothing of boxing and expected he would have a number of comebacks on his story. The story was not based on Gene Tunney's life, since Cary did not know Tunney, and had no idea he was to retire. In fact, The Duke Steps Out was running in serial form at the time of Tunney's retirement.

Q. When did curfew and forest laws originate in England? J. M. R. A. The curfew and forest laws of England originated in the reign of William the Conqueror, 1066. All fires must be covered or put out by a certain time each night, under heavy penalties and all lighting of forest fires was at one time punishable by death.

Q. Does the albatross frequent the Atlantic Ocean? T. N. A. Albatrosses are seldom seen in the North Atlantic. They frequent nearly all other seas, but are never seen ashore except on the islands of the Antarctic Ocean where they breed.

Q. Are there leaning towers, other than the one in Pisa? G. T. A. There is one in Mt. Moritz, Switzerland; one in Eins and one in Ulm, Germany, and two in Bologna, Italy.

Q. Is the silk hat or high hat a modern article of dress? W. V. A. This form of headgear was first worn by John Hetherington, a haberdasher of the Strand, London, in 1797. It is recorded that its appearance on the street caused such excitement that its wearer was arrested for disturbing the peace.

Q. What is the difference between a hat and a cap? W. V. A. A hat is a headpiece with a brim, a cap is a headpiece without a brim. A hat is a headpiece with a brim, a cap is a headpiece without a brim. A hat is a headpiece with a brim, a cap is a headpiece without a brim.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Diary of a modern Popsy: Up and tried to console a friend who lost his life savings in Wall street and then to talk to W. W. Hawkins and met Thompson Buchanan, the playwright. Home to read the mail there being a post card from Gilbert White, the Paris painter, in far away China.

Also a letter from a brave fellow in Rochester, N. Y., doomed by medical authorities to die in a month and the most courageous mislve I ever read—so eloquent in sublime humility I was moved to tears. At my typewriter and wrote speedily for three hours but mostly drivel.

To a dinner with Ray Long and among guests were Theodore Dreiser, John Erskine and Montague Glass and several others and interesting talk in which I was only a listener. Rode home with a garrulous taxi driver who addressed me as "Sport," the flatterer. So to bed.

Dean Cornwell, the wizard of the magazine covers, is marooned in London for another year to finish murals for the Los Angeles library. It is a labor of love for Cornwell who at the pinnacle of his career gave up an annual income of more than $75,000 for the three year job that will not reward him more than $10,000 a year. Cornwell is in early 30's with a family. His wife was eager and anxious for him to make the financial sacrifice although it separates them the greater part of the period.

New York has probably 200 wide open beer saloons within a mile radius of Times Square with all the old time atmosphere from the long mahogany bar with brass rail to cloves and orange peel in little round dishes. On torrid days customers stand five deep.

The fly specked free lunch with its jumble of cheese, pickles and pretzels is also revived. Most of the places have hired touts. It is their job to circulate about the town with "tip off" of the places that serve the real stuff.

They buttress the ballyhoo with the significant wink the places are "right"

Joe Cook, when he is billed to "comede" at benefit performances, insists on being billed as "Joke Hook."

"At that dinner at the Biltmore," writes Jerry, "you were the only one in a Tuxedo. Everybody else was in a full dress suit."

I started out in one. Maybe I left it in a taxi.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

You will be going away for the summer vacation pretty soon. Doubtless you will be doing a lot of reading. At least I hope you will.

I regard reading as one of the means of promoting health. A few days ago I talked with a senator. He is a very serious minded man, and devotes his every energy to the good of the country. I asked him if he ever read anything except books and papers relating to government. He admitted that he rarely does. My suggestion to him was that a change in his reading material would aid his health.

Now you will ask me how in the world the reading a man does can have any effect on his physical welfare. I shall undertake to show you why I think it does have.

In a sense our mental processes are like a highway. If we think along one line all the time, we get a condition equivalent to ruts in the brain, like the ruts in a road.

You know how rough and uncomfortable a passage over such a road really is. If our thoughts are kept all the time in one groove it gives that part of the brain no chance to recuperate. The thinking highways grows rougher all the time.

Many a sleepless person will be lulled to slumber if he indulges in some sort of light reading. In my opinion modern novels have a real use. You may glean little from them that is informative or uplifting. But they are diverting. They carry our thoughts over portions of the brain that are rarely used, and gives the regular highway a chance to spring back into form.

Of course, there are nobler uses to be made of reading. The libraries are filled with books that are instructive and enlightening. Such works should be our constant companions.

It is needless to say I did not start out to write a philosophical essay about books. What I intended to say is that before you go on your summer vacation would make sure that your eyes are in good condition. If you haven't had your vision tested for a long time, this is a good time to attend to the matter.

Answers to Health Queries.

MRS. L. L. Q.—What treatment is suggested for a brownish rash which itches only when the blood is warm—the rash comes in large patches on the sides of the neck, shoulder blades and under the bend of the knees? A.—Probably due to a liver disturbance, producing an irritation. Watch your diet, avoiding too many fats and sweets and keep the bowels open.

MARY. Q.—I am afflicted with superfluous hair and worry for fear my eight-year-old daughter will inherit the tendency. What measure can I take to prevent it? A.—Such condition is not necessarily inherited. Bleaching superfluous hair will make it less noticeable and in time this treatment should destroy the roots.

La Follette Goes Much Too Far.

Abandonment of secrecy with respect to roll calls taken in executive sessions of the senate seems to be "indicated," as the doctors say, because in view of the character of a part of the present personnel of the body, maintenance of the old rule has become impractical. Pledges to keep silent mean nothing. But the suggestion by Senator La Follette that the practice of considering and debating presidential nominations behind closed doors be likewise given up, is quite another matter. It would be foolish and against sound national policy to do anything of the sort. An immediate result would be an increase of reluctance among citizens of the sort most desirable for public office to permit their names to be sent in. They would not care to become butts of the group of reckless scandal mongers which always is more or less in evidence in the upper house of congress.—Lutrol Free Press.

Don't Fight in Public!

Husbands and wives, if they must quarrel, should confine their quarrels to their homes and not make public exhibits of themselves.

Perhaps there has never been a game which has caused so many demonstrations of anger among married couples as the game of bridge.

While it may be provoking to a player when his or her partner fails to take advantage of a good opening, it is not sufficient reason for starting a quarrel.

Many couples seldom engage in a game of this kind without becoming angry at each other.

Thus they detract from their own pleasure, to say nothing of the effect on the opposing side.

There are no greater bores than the couples who continually censure each other for their plays.

Usually the one who has the most complaints to make, is distinguished for some of the worst leads and discards and plays of other kinds.

From his or her basis, which often is not founded on good regulation play or good sense, the partner is all wrong, while as a matter of good judgment, a disputed play might have been the one which would have won out under ordinary circumstances.

not strong and I would like to give him orange juice to strengthen him. When should it be given and how much should be given at a time? Could the juice of grapefruit be substituted at times?

A.—The child may have the juice of an orange every morning, about half an hour before his breakfast. You might alternate with the grapefruit juice occasionally if you find that it agrees with the child. He should have pure cod liver oil after meals and should be exposed to direct sunshine and fresh air whenever possible.

JUNE COLLYER IN SCREEN HIT

Pretty June Collyer, whose most recent Fox Film featured role was in Raymond Cannon's production, "Red Wine," in which she played the screen wife of Conrad Nagel, once more is "single."

Which means that in "Not Quite a Husband," now showing at the Ceramic Theater, she has the role of an unsophisticated girl who plays a "moth" that gets mighty near to a flame, but who is saved from being singed by the protection of an old trumper, played by the lovable Louise Dresser.

"Not Quite a Husband," based on the story, "The Grouch Bag," by Wallace Smith, provides Miss Dresser with a characterization which Fox executives firmly believe is her greatest during a long career.

Living Cummings, who has advanced to the forefront of directors, by reason of a trio of successes the past year for Fox Films, namely: "Dressed to Kill," "Romance of the Underworld" and "In Old Arizona," adds another directorial triumph with "Not Quite a Husband."

MUSICAL COMEDY SCREEN WINNER

Whether a woman is ever justified in sacrificing her own good name for the benefit of the man she loves is the difficult question asked in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," Warner Bros.' Vitaphone all-talking and singing version of Hough, Adams and Howard's musical comedy success which is now showing at the American theater.

Pursued by so many insistent women that he has lost his head, the young football star, portrayed by Grant Withers, suddenly finds himself in a compromising position with Betty Compton, playing the wife of his host, at a Long Island house party.

A Dignified LOAN Service

There are so many demands for money in June—new clothing, painting, rent, insurance, taxes, old bills, etc., that one sometimes wonders where it is all coming from.

If you need money, you can borrow up to $300 here now and have ample time to repay us. You get the full amount of your loan—no outside signers required. All arrangements are private. Come in and investigate this dignified financing plan.

John Davidson, the host, who also is his employer, is about to batter down the door of his wife's room, when it is suddenly opened to reveal, not his wife, but his pretty young secretary, played by Gertrude Olmstead, in Withers' arms.

Thus in order to save the man she loved, the girl of the picture has to shield the woman who is trying to steal him from her.

This highly dramatic incident is but one of the climatic points of the picture, whose background combines college life and the fast-playing sets of Wall Street and Long Island.

The cast includes Vivian Oakland, James R. Kirkwood, Gretchen Hartman, Irene Haisman, Bert Roach and Gerald King.

"THE IRON MASK" TOPS STATE BILL

D'Artagnan and the three musketeers are riding once more.

Doug Fairbanks is with us once more as D'Artagnan. "The Iron Mask," a United Artists picture at the State theater, is a sequel to his story of "The Three Musketeers," which he made six years ago. Again Fairbanks is playing Dumas' swash-buckling hero of the seventeenth century.

The scene of the picture is laid in France during the latter part of the reign of Louis XIII and the first years of the reign of the young Louis XIV. The story opens with the birth of the heir to the throne of France, and carries through the years of his boyhood to the early period of his rulership. In the second part of the picture, D'Artagnan and his three faithful friends, Athos, Porthos and Aramis, grown older but still adventuresome, wield their swords in defense of the young king as loyally as they served his father.

Months of careful preparation were spent in perfecting every detail of the production before starting the actual filming of the picture. Mammoth sets have been built for this great film—exact duplications of the Palace of St. Germain, of the Carmelite convent and of French streets and buildings as they appeared in the seventeenth century. Under the personal supervision of M. Maurice Leloir, the world's greatest authority on the customs, manners and costumes of that period, every phase of the life of the France of that time is reproduced with historical accuracy.

In addition to Mr. Fairbanks, several members of the cast are playing the parts they created in the first story of D'Artagnan and his fellows.

Because "the harsh notes of the pipes clashing with motor traffic noise makes jarring sounds," Larks, England, has banned bagpipe playing on the beach.

'HEAVENLY HOPE' SERMON TOPIC

Rev. W. T. McCandless
Preaches on Suggested Theme.

With four persons having made practically the same suggestion in the choice of a theme, the Rev. W. T. McCandless, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, embodied in the subject, "The Heavenly Hope," the inquiries last night. The discourse was the second of a series.

In the afternoon the Rev. Mr. McCandless held communion service in the Tomlinson Run United Presbyterian church, near Chester, W. Va., as the climax of a revival campaign.

Three persons were at this meeting taken into the church and three others are to be added next Sunday. Previously nine persons had become members. There were 40 communicants at yesterday's service out of an attendance of 58. The congregation now numbers some 70 persons.

"There must be a vision of the heavenly place, the heavenly abode and the heavenly spirit in order to comprehend the hope underlying it," said the Rev. McCandless last night.

"There is to be a new heaven and a new earth. One therefore must have the idea of the creative power of God. Creation involves that which is new. There will be things in heaven of which one has never dreamed. It will be a place of wonder."

"Then it will be a place in which there will be progression. It will not be a place in which one will sit down, but a going on from victory to victory and from glory to glory."

"Hope is creative and progressive; there can be no hope in stagnant things." He said that John's vision at Patmos encompassed the passing of the sea. "And the sea stands for things mysterious. All mystery will accordingly pass away. Separation will end. Friends and God will ever be with those in heavenly places."

"The sea likewise stands for restlessness. Its booming and roar will pass away. Perfect peace will follow."

"Fathers give children new things. And the Heavenly Father is to give a new earth and a new heaven. God even now is creative in that when man needs liquid air God has it ready for him; when he can use radios they were to be found by human ingenuity. All of the recent discoveries that have added to mankind's comfort and energy are but evidences of the continued activity of God's creative powers."

GOOD-BYE ITCHING SKIN
when invisible Zemo is applied

Soothing, healing and tremendously efficient, invisible Zemo brings quick relief when bites, rash, sunburn, and other summer afflictions cause itching and discomfort. It cools and soothes. It draws out local infection. It smooths away blemishes and clears up the skin. Keep clean, antiseptic Zemo always on hand. Use it freely. It is safe, pleasant. 35c, 60c and $1.00.

New Way To Improve Skin

A wonderful discovery is the new French process which gives MELLO-GLO Face Powder its unparalleled smoothness and makes it stay on longer. The purest powder made—its color is tested. Never gives a pasty or flaky look! Will not irritate or clog the pores! Its youthful bloom stays on longer. Remember the name—MELLO-GLO. D. M. Ogilvie & Co. —Adv.

KEATLEY NAMED ROCK SPRINGS POOL MANAGER

Chester High School Athletic Director Accepts.

GUARDS APPOINTED

Four Outings Slated at Park During Week.

C. C. Macdonald, lessee of Rock Springs park, today announced the appointment of Paul Keatley, Chester high school athletic director, as manager of Crystal pool, which was recently opened for bathing.

George Deems and Richard Dalrymple have been named as guards at the pool.

The pool and bath house at the park have been rebuilt. New equipment includes a water-purifying system and two new steel diving tables. A steel and brass ladder has been placed at each end of the pool.

"Human Torch" Free Act.
A floating elephant for use of the bathers is also in service. The pool will be open daily from noon to 10 p. m. The pool at night will be illuminated with reflector lamps. Lady attendants are in charge of the women's dressing rooms.

Captain Smiles O'Timmons, the "human torch" who thrilled large crowds Saturday night and Sunday will give performances at 4:30 and 10:30 p. m. every day this week. He will conclude his engagement next Sunday.

Some Things to Know and How to Learn Them

THIS is the season for planning vacations. Some people get as much fun out of that as they do out of the vacation itself. And now vacation planning is more fun than ever, because you can do it by telephone, just as easily as you call places in your own town for information.

Any of the questions listed here can be answered by telephone. Simply give the number of the distant place, (Long Distance Information will furnish it) and you are connected in a minute or so.

If you are planning a tour, just call ahead from day to day for reservations or information.

REV. H. A. KELSEY LAUDS WORK OF SUNDAY SCHOOL

College Leader Speaks
In First U. P.
Church.

FORMER PASTOR

"Egypt—Midnight or Dawn" Subject at Night.

"If the Sunday schools fail the church itself will fail for five of every six members procured for churches come from them," declared the Rev. Hugh A. Kelsey, D. D., vice president of Muskingum college, New Concord, and a former pastor here, at the First United Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He spoke at an installation of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school. His theme was "The Task of the Teacher."

In the evening he spoke to the congregation and visitors on the subject, "Egypt—Midnight or Dawn," in which he gave a first-hand resume of conditions in that section of the world following a visit of a few months ago to mission fields.

At the conclusion of his sermon in the morning the Rev. L. A. Davison, the present pastor of the church, read obligations to the officers and teachers in the church. They agreed to lay their hands faithfully perform their duties. "You are building for eternity," he told them. "To your care has been given the care of the souls of men. It is yours to give and impart to them God's word which work is a holy one. You are to know this word will not return to you void, neither will God leave you. In teaching others you will teach yourselves also."

Officers of Sunday School.
The officers of the Sunday school are: Superintendent, W. W. Sloan; associate superintendents, J. W. Gaston, Chalmers Smith, E. J. Watson, Clark Allison and William J. Curry; librarians, J. F. Manor, secretary, Mrs. Lee Adams, assistant secretaries, Miss Gladys Chamberlain and Jacob Shenkel; Grade roll superintendent, Mrs. Joseph Manor; secretary of primary department, Mrs. Loris O'Brien; pianists, primary department, Mrs. Kenneth Shenkel and Miss Helen Hanahs.

The teachers were: Mrs. T. J. Andrews, Mrs. John Smith, Miss Grace Croft, Mrs. Matthew Andrews, Miss Jean Sloan, Miss Betty Robertson, Mrs. E. J. Gaston, Miss Edith Fox, Mrs. L. A. Davidson, Miss Bertha Adzoll, Mrs. I. A. Hoffman, Carl Gaston, Mrs. Elizabeth Lemmon, Rev. L. J. Davison, A. A. Barr, Miss Grace Ogilvie, W. J. Curry, E. J. Gaston, J. A. Anderson, Mrs. Chalmers McBane, Mrs. W. W. Sloan, Dr. Jean Sloan, Miss Nell Ogilvie, Mrs. D. W. Ogilvie, Mrs. C. A. Ferguson.

The substitute teachers include Mrs. Ola Adzoll, Ruth Keyes, Miss Mary McCay, Mrs. Effie Fisher, Miss Mary Buchanan, Mrs. Mentor Shenkel, Mrs. J. A. Dimmerling, W. W. Sloan and W. C. Miles.

Rev. Mr. Kelsey's Sermon.
"I wonder how many of you remember the first sentence of the sermon you listened to on Sunday morning, August 14, 1915," the Rev. Mr. Kelsey asked. "It was 'It seems that this church has decided to disorganize its Sunday school. It had just looked over the role of church membership and found less than half of the members of the church were attendants of the Sunday school. I thus decided that since the majority rules the Sunday school was in process of disintegration. I accordingly made the then cryptic statement so that you might realize the situation...'"

"And do you realize that sixteen American states show a decline in Sunday school attendance and membership in the last decade? Ohio in that interim gained 531 persons when the number should have been 500,000 in keeping with its increase in population."

"There are seven million children under ten years of age who get no religious training whatsoever and there are many more above that age who receive none. This inadequate instruction sends them out into life spiritually unfit. What will save America will not be its armies and navies, its material resources, its commercial training or its political status. Training in the home is not what it used to be, the public school has almost closed its door to biblical teaching and the state has done likewise. Only the church therefore can meet this needful demand of human life."

Cites Importance of Sunday School.
He noted the finding of a boy in a reform school to which he once spoke whom he recognized as a one-time lad in his Sunday school. The latter admitted the going into bad company. Then he mentioned a young English girl whom he found in one of the missions of the church here. "She was detected when I asked her name. But she is now one of his bright spots in my life as I read of her activity in taking on a double portion of work in the missionary field following ideals inculcated into her at the mission. The one remained in the school and the other did not. The latter has learned his lesson and will, he says, do differently with his life later on."

Many are scared with the outlook of the church with missionary projects and evangelism at low ebb. It is felt that the church is not doing what it should do.

Text From Apostle John.
He utilized the words of the Apostle John as a text: "What we have seen and heard declare we unto you." He held that teaching the word of God could not be done unless it was done by those who had seen God in their own lives. He cited Moses and Isaiah as glowing examples of men who had and then revealed their conceptions of Him to those about them.

There must be seers and hearers of the word," he declared. Abraham, Elijah and Daniel heard and followed God. One must be re-born for how can the word be given if not sent without a preacher?

Family Stuff

Spurg was a great preacher because he sat with God.

"The teacher, like Jeremiah and the other prophets of old, must cry out and spare none. That which they have seen they must tell. The word from them must be such a flame in their bones that, though weary, they can not stay it."

He told of Daniel Crawford, minister, talking to the king on an occasion when, instead of waiting for the latter to suggest the subject which is the royal prerogative he asked: Are you saved? And the king replying affirmatively, asked him in return if he were and then the two sat down to "talk of the King of Kings."

Urges Dedication to Christ.
"There must be an intelligent and serious conception of the work itself by the teachers to meet up with the requirements of biblical instruction," he indicated. It must be seen what the word is, why it is and what it sees to do.

"There should be an unhesitating dedication of lives for the doing of this Christian service. I have no patience with those holding themselves as Christians averring they have no time for such work. Those lined up with God should line up with His will to do His work. Then will follow fruitage of twenty-three and sixty fold."

"In doing so you are like an old man building a bridge who exclaimed by one childing him that he was too old to use it, 'I am making it for the boy who will follow me.' You likewise are building spiritual spans over which those in the years to come will pass."

Salvation Army.
Major Thomas Hunton, retired officer, was present at meetings of the Salvation Army here on Saturday and Sunday. He spoke twice yesterday. Three conversions were noted last night and five yesterday morning in sessions at the West Third street citadel.

He spoke last night on the transformation of Zachaeus. He noted his energy in climbing a tree that he might see Jesus passing by and observed how, following his conversion, he made restitution for the wrongs he had previously done those about him. "Acquiescence of the Christ-like spirit causes one to make right in the degree possible that which was wrong previously," he declared. Major Hunton returned to Akron this morning.

Announcement was made of the return to East Liverpool for their vacation next week of Captain and Mrs. Harry Bennett, former East Liverpool residents, who have been placed on active official duties in the Forest City. They will have charge of the service at the West Third street citadel tomorrow night.

EXPERT SWIMMER DROWNS IN LAKE

CANTON, O., June 17. — (INS) — Stark county's first drowning victim of the season was Paul Snyder, 23, of Canton, an expert swimmer. Snyder drowned in Cable lake, a swimming resort near here, Saturday night and his body was recovered last night. Coroner T. C. McQuate said he had apparently been seized with an attack of gastritis.

WM. COLCLOUGH, AGED 66, DIES

William Colclough, 66, potter, died today in his home, Ezra street, after a long illness.

Mr. Colclough was the son of the late Isaiah and Mary Ann Colclough. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and First Methodist Episcopal church.

He leaves one brother, Roy E. Colclough, of Akron, and a sister, Mrs. W. H. Griggs, of Trenton, N. J.

included the mechanic of the plane, two men and two women passengers. Earlier information given out by Imperial Airways officials stated that the passengers had all been rescued and landed at Folkestone. Officials of the concern declined to reveal the names of the Americans aboard the plane and even the American consulate in London was denied this information.

First news that the plane, christened "City of Ottawa," was in trouble came in as S. O. S. message flashed by the pilot of the air liner at 11:25 a. m. The plane had taken off from Croydon aerodrome, just outside of London, with a full complement of passengers at 10:30.

The wrecked plane is of the type used successfully for years by the Imperial Airways for its cross-channel traffic. The liners usually ply between Croydon and Le Bourget airfield, but the "City of Ottawa" was destined for Swiss points, although a stop at Le Bourget was contemplated.

BROTHERS HELD IN STORE LOOTING

Two boys, brothers, 14 and 15, respectively, were held for juvenile court, Lisbon, today, following their alleged confessions to having looted two East End stores and a plumbing shop, Saturday night.

They were arrested yesterday morning. Most of the loot was recovered under a culvert in Leak Hollow. Places robbed were the Molloyhan grocery, Erie street, the Horger Hardware store, Mulberry street, and the C. A. Poole plumbing shop and home, Pennsylvania avenue.

The Molloyhan store was entered by jimmying the rear door. Approximately $50 worth of merchandise, including groceries, knives, flash lights, tennis shoes and caps, was taken. Entrance to the Horger store was made in the same manner. Guns, shells, knives and other merchandise to the value of $85 were taken.

The suspects are alleged to have entered the Poole establishment through a cellar window. A flashlight and a bunch of keys were taken. Police reported that the boys also admitted the robbery of the Mrs. Ella Means confectionery, Railroad street, on June 7, when $40 worth of merchandise was stolen.

VILLAGE BOOSTS OFFICIALS' PAY

COLUMBIANA, O., June 17. — Salaries of municipal officers of the village of Columbiana are to be increased January 1, under an ordinance that is about to be passed by council. The salary of the mayor will be $350 annually, but payable quarterly. The clerk will receive $400, and treasurer will be paid $100 annually. Salary of the marshal has been boosted to $1,800, payable semi-monthly. The same salary is to be paid the street commissioner. Members of the board of public affairs will receive $100 each annually.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN BOAT PLUNGE

COLUMBUS, O., June 17. — (INS) — Snatched from the placid waters of the upper regions of Griggs dam on the Scioto river, about seven miles north of here, and caught in the mad current of the spillway, a rowboat containing four young persons was thrown over the bosom of the huge stream obstruction to the water 65 feet below dealing a swift and almost instant death to two of the occupants of the pleasure craft.

The other two members of the party had a narrow escape from death. Emerson Wright, Columbus, and Dorothy Bitzer, R. F. D., Harrisburg, a telephone operator at Circleville, are the dead persons.

Iola Teyer, Columbus, and Morris Bostel, also of the capital city, are the two who escaped.

CUSTOMS JAM

Ever vigilant customs officials at New York are holding the 11 pieces of baggage which Mrs. Charles C. Rumsey, formerly Mrs. Harriman, daughter of E. H. Harriman, railroad magnate, brought to America with her from Spain. They claim alleged discrepancies between her declaration and the contents of her trunks.

NEW SCHEDULE ON OHIO RIVER

Shippers' Packet Company Changes Runs Of Steamers.

New schedule of Ohio river boats of the Shippers' Packet company, Pittsburgh, plying between the Smoky City and Charleston, W. Va., will become effective this week.

The General Wood, which has been carrying freight and passengers to Wheeling, W. Va., will go each Tuesday to Charleston, W. Va., returning on Sunday. The Senator Cordill will continue in the Cincinnati trade, leaving Pittsburgh on Thursday. The Betty Ann, which leaves Pittsburgh on Saturday and returns Friday from Cincinnati, will operate on the old schedule. There will be no daily boat to Wheeling, W. Va. The Liberty will be in that trade as soon as new boilers are installed at the dry docks at Pittsburgh.

Government Repair Party No. 1, with the steamboat John F. Klein, will inspect and repair the lock gates and bear traps at Dam No. 8, lock tenders announced today.

The reading at noon today at Dam No. 8 was 15.7 feet in the upper pool and 9.7 feet in the lower pool.

SOME pious, are puzzled by lightning rods on church steeples, amazed to read that lightning struck a hospital.

The power that rules the universe has things other than this little planet to manage. Billions of stars have planets going around them. It would be unreasonable to expect individual attention for each of the churches and hospitals on all those planets. Natural law, working throughout the universe, remorselessly and regardless of individuals, represents the only practical solution, even for omnipotence. Imagine directing each lightning bolt here, and a billion light years away from here.

MAN SLAIN AS HE BEGS MERCY

CHICAGO, June 17. — (INS) — Tortured and taunted as he begged for his life on bended knees, Ralph Sena, alleged alcohol runner, was shot and instantly killed after being taken for a ride, according to the story reconstructed here today by attaches of the coroner's office.

The body was found in a roadside ditch, riddled with bullets. Mud stains on the knees of the trousers told the story of the futile appeal for mercy.

Papers found on the body indicated the man was a resident of either Kalamazoo or Holland, Mich.

DRY AGENT KILLS MAN IN GEORGIA

TALLAPOOSA, Ga., June 17. — (INS) — Prohibition enforcement guns barked in Georgia today, and added another apparently innocent victim to the steadily mounting toll of fatalities attributable to half-trigger enforcement agents.

Grady Phillips, a young saw-mill operator, was shot and killed when he failed to stop his automobile at the command of a county officer who suspected the machine of containing liquor.

Phillips was shot through the head and died four hours later. Search of the automobile failed to reveal any liquor, or any evidence that liquor had been carried.

MRS. STANTON, 86, WIDOW, DIES

Mrs. Hannah M. Stanton, 86, widow of Smith Stanton, died Saturday in the home of Howard H. Fisher, 210 East Second street.

She leaves one son, Benjamin Stanton, Athens, O., and two daughters, Mrs. William Boyd, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Mrs. John Duncan, East Liverpool.

Services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Sturgis funeral home, West Fifth street, in charge of Field Major Joseph Hughes of the Salvation Army. Burial will be made in Calcutta United Presbyterian cemetery.

Potters Host to 18,000

poiled by his nephew, another Will Blake, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blake, of St. Clair avenue.

Himself a leading figure in previous outings, the elder Blake was quickly taken in hand by Chairman George Goppert and other members of the picnic committee. He was given a reception by his former associates and throughout his stay was constantly greeted by thousands knowing him personally.

Joseph Smith, secretary of the welfare department of the Odd Fellows of Philadelphia, and formerly fifth vice president of the N. B. of O. P., was also in attendance.

Baby Show First Feature.
The outing got under way almost by its own momentum since the potters know just how to begin these affairs which have come to mean so much to them annually.

The baby show in the dancing pavilion was the initial attraction. There were 72 entrants, and, if it possible for babies to improve their appearance as they continue to arrive, then the 1929 contingent could truthfully be regarded as having something on those of the years that have gone. It was no easy task to select the best looking from such an array.

In the end the judges, Mrs. James M. Duffy, wife of President Duffy, of the N. B. of O. P.; Mrs. John D. McGilivray, wife of the secretary-treasurer, and Miss Anna Foley, stenographer at the Brotherhood offices in East Liverpool, decided that "Betsey," six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, of East Liverpool was the winner. Second place went to the three-year-old daughter of Fred Eaton, Chester, W. Va., and the third prize to "Jack," Cameron, the eight-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cameron, of New Cumberland.

The age limit was six months to three years. The first prize was a $50 silver trophy; the second, $15, and the third, $8. A decorated baby plate was given every entrant.

Falls Creek Wins Ball Game.
Then immediately followed a $15 penny scramble in which children of various ages took part. They had a fine time as did the spectators watching them and some of them ended with enough money for several ice cream cones.

The Homer Laughlin China company, leading for more than half the distance and seemingly in no danger of defeat, finally lost the baseball game with the team representing the Jackson pottery of Falls Creek, Pa. The latter thus assumed the championship of the "Bacon" league by their victory and at the same time collected $90 of the $150 purse. The losers received $60.

Thousands were on hand at the outset of the game. It was little a first, but finally became exciting by going into an extra inning, but by that time many of the early spectators had gone to other sections of the park. The finish was spectacular.

Boxing Show Attracts Crowd.
Devotees of boxing, and a jammed crowd on the spaces about the ring in the open, witnessed an engrossing exhibition of the manly art. George Chip, of New Castle, Pa., was the referee.

The first bout was between Jimmie Lee, of Sebring, 126 pounds, and Orval Coe, 122 1/2 pounds. They fought a draw.

Franklin Palermo, of Sebring, 128 pounds, lost to Jimmie Myers, of Cleveland, 126 pounds, in four rounds. "Kid" Holt, of Sebring, 128 pounds, put up a colorful battle against Dick Zimmerman, of Akron, the same weight, but the decision went to the latter after six rounds of lively sparring.

The final event was a ten-round affair between "Pete" Mazzeo, of Cleveland, 129 pounds, and Press Johnson, 120 pounds, of Akron. The former was awarded the decision.

Joseph Callahan Awarded Auto.
Joseph Callahan, of 229 Summit lane, East Liverpool, was awarded an automobile.

A $500 prize was given to J. A. Hoover, of Chester, W. Va., past 73, for being the oldest potter on the grounds.

Another of $10 for the largest family in attendance was divided between those of F. Palermo, of Sebring, and Fred Goppert, of Chester, W. Va., each totaling 13 persons. This award was given by John Allen of Sebring.

SEEKS OFFICE

Mrs. Pansy Hargreaves McDonnell, bookkeeper for the Winland Brothers' Lumber company for seven years, will oppose A. Earl Edwards, incumbent, for the Republican nomination for clerk of municipal court at the primary election on Tuesday, August 13.

The judges were James Turner, Lee Baldwin, "Frisky" Howell and Paul Shinn.

Fifteen 42-piece decorated dinner sets were also given away. The winners were: Len Barlow, James Winter and J. S. Sheets, East Liverpool; Mrs. Carnahan, George Thomas and Vera Howell, of Sebring.

Others will claim their sets through the Brotherhood offices when a revised list will be published.

The athletic events were carried out before the baseball game on the ball diamond. William Watkins, was the general chairman of the sports program. He was assisted by Thomas Anthony, "Frisky" Howell, William Ashbaugh, James Turner, Paul Shinn, Homer Veon, Alvin Hartzell and George Turner.

Union Leaders Attend
Persons traveling to New Castle by train from East Liverpool, and there were several hundred of them, left here at 8:15 in the morning. They arrived three hours later. The same time was taken on the return trip, they not arriving here until past midnight.

Many picnickers from Salineville and Alliance missed their return train and journeyed on the East Liverpool section. Their train was held here.

President James M. Duffy and other officers were present at the park the entire day.

The committee in charge of the reunion consisted of George Goppert, chairman, and Frank Hull, secretary, treasurer, and James Turner, L. E. Baldwin, C. N. Cyrizer, James Noah, William Watkins, Paul Shinn, Homer Veon, George Turner, Henry Dupuy, George Koblock.

LIGHTNING HITS HOME NEAR AKRON

AKRON, O., June 17. — (INS) — Every nail in the home of K. T. Catlin at Turkeyfoot Lake was loosened and many were torn completely free when the house was struck by lightning yesterday, it was revealed today.

Catlin, his wife and their three children were in the house and all were stunned but not seriously injured. The bolt struck a tree and jumped from it to the house, according to Catlin.

NERVOUS FOLKS ADVISED TO EAT POUND OF CELERY EVERY DAY OR TAKE "ORANGE ROOT"

For Hundreds of Years Common "Celery" Has Been Known As a Valuable Remedy In All Nervous Conditions — If Eating a Pound of Celery Every Day Is Too Arduous a Task, Take "ORANGE ROOT," the Celebrated Iron and Celery Compound.

Thousands of nerve-shattered, weak and worried men and women throughout the nation are building up new nerve force, increasing their strength and stamina on ORANGE ROOT, the world's greatest rehabilitating tonic. No need now to drag around hollow-cheeked, pale and nervous. If you are underweight have no appetite, are nervous and restless, cannot sleep at night, have heartburn, gas on stomach, or indigestion in any form, crippled up with rheumatism, bothered with distressing kidney and bladder trouble, have no red blood or poor complexion, are weak and "tired all the time" or are recovering from some weakening distemper such as flu, fever or grippé, and have no desire to eat or live, for heaven's sake go right this minute to Mathews Medicine Store, get a bottle of the famous ORANGE ROOT, take it all and GET WELL.

Orange Root is composed of such well-known ingredients as Yellow Puccoon, pure Iron Scale, Celery Seeds, Lady's Slipper, Gentian Root, Peppermint Leaves, Nux Vomica, Pississewa, Passiflora and Barbary Leaves. A gamut of time-proved roots.

Scores upon scores of grateful users are broadcasting happy results obtained through using only a bottle or two of Orange Root. Here is a message from Mrs. Mattie Goff, who resides at 213 1/2 Market Street, Parkersburg, W. Va. She says: "I suffered for two years with nervousness. At times I became so restless I could not eat, sleep or do anything. My stomach was all knocked out and I had no appetite at all. I was thin and losing weight every day. I got so bad I had to quit working. I started the Orange Root treatment and after taking three bottles, I have gained six pounds, nervousness all gone, stomach trouble a thing of the past, and I simply can't get enough to eat. Orange Root has put me back on my feet, and I am now able to work again—I am telling everybody about this grand Orange Root."

To remove poisons from the system liberated by the TONIC and to stimulate lazy livers take Orange Root NUGGETS. They act gently, yet thoroughly. Prices, tonic, $1.25; Nuggets, 50c add 10c extra for parcel post charges.

FREE samples of the NUGGETS given at Mathews Medicine Store, O R A N G E R O O T Headquarters in East Liverpool.

Two Are Jailed Here After Autos Collide

Chester Youths to Get Hearing as Result of Crash With Car Driven by Bethel Man in Salineville Road.

WELLSVILLE, O., June 17.—Floyd Allison and "Okey" Sarah, Chester youths, were in jail here today awaiting a formal hearing before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo as a result of an automobile crash last night at 11 o'clock in the Wellsville-Salineville road. The automobile in which the two were riding collided with another car, owned and driven by Noah McIntosh, of Bethel, in which McIntosh's family were passengers. One of the McIntosh children, it is said, sustained cuts about his head. McIntosh and his family were en route toward Salineville. The Chester

Work will be started on the pool just as soon as the full amount has been subscribed, according to an announcement by C. W. Arnold, chairman of the committee.

ANXIOUS PARENTS FIND HELP IN OWA-TON-NA

Youth Who Had to Spend Most of His Time in Bed, Now Able to Be Out and Play With His Friends.

Remarkable, indeed, are some of the reports about the good that this fine old Indian Remedy is doing in Steubenville, that are being told to the special laboratory representative now located at Lane's Kut Rate Store, 131 S. 4th St. Many sufferers who had reached the point of despair, in fact had almost given up hope, have found new hope in this Indian formula. Many are the thankful endorsements being received each day. These results are not obtained through the use of dangerous, harmful, doping drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries as originally formulated by the Indian and compounded under this name, Owa-Ton-Na.

Parents of Master Felix Farmer, 316 S. Lake street, Steubenville, Ohio, say that the thanks they give this fine old Indian Remedy can not be expressed in words. They say: "Our eight-year-old boy had been a constant care. Each day he was uppermost in our minds. Infantile paralysis had left him in a terrible run down condition. In fact he had never been able to overcome this illness. We tried almost everything that was ever recommended to us, who wouldn't when a child is helpless?" "Food didn't seem to agree with him. would form gas and ferment in his stomach. His kidneys didn't act normally, he was forced to get up many times at night to relieve bladder irritation. Backaches and headaches were often present. In fact, he had got to the point where he spent most of his time in bed, too weak to be up. He didn't seem to have any interest in life."

"We had both taken Owa-Ton-Na with such wonderful results that we felt that it might possibly help our little boy. We knew it would do no harm so we tried it without too much hope that it would do any good. After a few bottles we could notice a change in his condition. He seemed more active and brighter, food didn't disagree with him as much as it used to and his bowels were acting regularly. Kidneys were acting more normally and after three weeks time he had gained ten pounds in weight and started to go out and play with the other children every day."

"Although he has only taken three bottles of Owa-Ton-Na, results he has had are remarkable. While he is not what a boy of eight years should be, we feel thankful he has made as much improvement as he has and feel satisfied that if he continues to improve, it will not be long until he will be as good as he should be. We would be glad to tell anyone personally about these wonderful results. Words can not express the good that has been accomplished in our family by this fine old Indian Remedy."

Cases like these of Felix Farmer's are indeed remarkable yet time after time Owa-Ton-Na has accomplished remarkable results even in the most obstinate cases. It is not claimed that Owa-Ton-Na performs miracles nor is it a cure-all. Its tonic and cleansing effect on the kidneys, liver, stomach and intestinal tract aid nature in the elimination of harmful poisons which bring about disease.

Prove to yourself the benefits to be derived by the use of this harmless remedy by obtaining a bottle today. Let it prove to you the way nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries as compounded in this Indian Formula aid nature in the restoration of health. A laboratory representative is located at Carahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, East Liverpool, where she will be glad to have you call in order that she may explain to you the merits of this Indian Remedy and how best to take it for quickest results. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carahan's East End and Newell, W. Va., Stores.

BAPTISTS MEET $3,000 DEBT

Raise $800 at Sunday Meet to Pay Off Church Property.

Raising a total of $800 at services yesterday, congregation of the First Baptist church, colored, paid off a $3,000 debt on their new property in Fourteenth and Center streets, the Rev. George W. White, pastor, announced today.

The congregation has been holding services at their church in Commerce street, which has been declared unfit for the purpose. Sometime ago a campaign was launched to procure $3,000 to purchase a property in Fourteenth and Center street and yesterday the goal was reached.

The next step, according to the pastor, will be the remodeling of the building into a church structure.

FORD V8 the Challenger

VISIT our showrooms and see a remarkable display in motor car color design—a variety so wide as to give almost individual distinction, at no extra cost. It is a new industrial achievement!

More than 225 different color combinations on various models were delivered last month by the Hudson Motor Car Co. That is why, although nearly 200,000 Essex Challengers are in service, there is a sparkling variety and individuality about each car, instead of the monotonous sameness expected in big production.

The tremendous buying swing to Essex the Challenger—with nearly 200,000 in service in five months—is the popular answer to how it upholds its sweeping challenge to motorroom. Hydraulic shock absorbers and new type double-action 4-wheel brakes are standard—they do not cost one cent extra. The same with radiator shutters, air cleaner, windshield wiper, safety lock, chromium-plated bright parts. All valuable features—all features you want. Add up for yourself the extras Essex offers at no added cost and you will see above $100 in extra value in those items alone.

Your present car will probably cover the entire first payment. The H. M. C. Purchase Plan offers the lowest terms available on the balance.

SMILEY FLOWERS ARE KNOWN FOR THEIR QUALITY

West End Firm Ready to Fill Every Floral Order.

KNOWS BUSINESS

Keeps Stocks Well Shaped for Emergency Needs.

FLOWERS! What a wealth of meaning that single word conveys. FLOWERS! What an atmosphere of refinement they create. Flowers are truly the ideal way of expressing happiness, affection, sorrow or grief. The Smiley Company makes a business of supplying flowers that express the sentiments of the sender. Be that occasion one of happiness, joy, affection, congratulation or condolence you may safely entrust the task of making up a suitable bouquet, corsage, floral design or basket that will strike the responsive cord of the party for whom they are intended.

To become a successful florist requires years and years of hard and diligent work and close application to duty. The first requisite is a love for growing things. Love of plant and flower life. Without this inclination the most versatile person is likely to make a dismal failure of this work which really amounts to a profession. They have made a very intensive study of their business. In the first place they enjoy working about flowers.

They know and understand plant and flower cultivation. Know which flowers will be the most beautiful at different seasons, which require certain temperatures and soil cultivation, furthermore they are continually working to develop more beautiful specimens. Another accomplishment is their skill to artistically arrange in a most attractive manner bouquets, corsages, flower baskets, floral designs, wreaths and the dozens and one ways in which flowers can be worked to more forcefully convey the token of the sender.

They are prepared to fill every and any floral requirement. They also make a specialty of serving patrons who wish flowers for special occasions, such as weddings, parties, banquets, balls and the like.

Funeral wreaths and floral designs constitute still another phase of their service. Such orders usually are placed unexpectedly and quickly, but the large stock of freshly cut flowers always on hand in this floral shop enables them to fill these orders in a most satisfactory manner. Telephoning for flowers and shipments to out of town people are always sure to have the prompt and immediate attention of the men behind this firm. The officers and managers of this firm are to be complimented on the ability they possess in the floral business as well as on their straight forward business principles.

Tydol Twins Keep Car New

Veedol oil and Tydol gasoline, as distributed here by the Midway Oil company, keep your motor new.

It doesn't pay the owner of a good car, or any kind of car for that matter, to skimp on oil. Ordinary oil is far more costly in the end. Within the last few years this truth has dawned on millions of motorists who once thought all oils were alike.

That's why the demand for Veedol and Tydol has grown so great—why these superb products have won so many firm, fast friends.

There can be no better oil than Veedol for your motor. It is one hundred per cent quality.

Veedol wards off destructive friction. It cuts down wear and tear on your motor. It stands engine heat that quickly breaks down ordinary oils and makes them unsafe for use. Overhead valves are protected by oil that won't break down.

Piston wear is minimized by an enduring film of oil which reduces friction.

Bearings of crankshaft and connecting rods are kept quiet and efficient.

Possibility of cylinder scoring is eliminated by this oil which stands highest motor heat.

Test it yourself!

The condition of the oil as it flows out of your motor tells to a considerable extent whether good oil was put in. After using ordinary oil for 500 miles, rub a drop or two between your fingers. Do the same thing with Veedol, the Midway company suggests, and then feel the difference, as well as see it.

CLEAN 'EM UP AT J. BRUNO'S

It's summer time—time to clean up. To look your best.

When it costs so little and the results are so great, why not press and clean your clothes occasionally, or if necessary buy a new suit, or whatever you need.

J. Bruno, merchant tailor, can take care of your needs in any respect in this line.

Bruno, merchant tailor, guarantees his cleaning, pressing and repair work.

RETIRE WITH NEW GENERALS

How are your ties holding out?

With ties priced as low as they are at the present time, it would be wise to equip your automobile with a complete set of General Cords, the line that is recognized without question as one of the foremost in the world of automotive equipment.

The General line is sold here by the Curry Tire shop, 618 Dresden Avenue.

There is no need to elaborate on the good qualities of the General tire. They are too well known to need that.

So, if you present tires are looking the worse for wear go around to Curry's and outfit yourself anew.

REAL QUALITY IS BUILDER OF BUSINESS

Golden Star Dairy Firm's Growth Proves This.

STRESS SERVICE

Prompt Delivery Features Distribution System.

Perhaps no local product has, within the last decade, furnished so striking an illustration of the value of quality as a good will and business builder, as has Golden Star milk.

An unwavering determination on the part of the management of the Golden Star Dairy company to give its patrons nothing but the best has resulted in the most phenomenal growth ever witnessed in the dairy business in this vicinity since the business was incorporated a little more than six years ago. It has increased its output in that time from about 150 gallons to more than 1,000 gallons daily.

The company has the skill and the equipment, including a complete line of the finest glass lined dairy equipment to be found anywhere, together with the new cold storage rooms and a 50-ton ice plant built a couple of years ago to supply their trade with crystal clear ice manufactured from state tested well water.

It is to the wonderful reputation of Golden Star milk, however, that the company owes most of its remarkable growth and continued popularity.

This company was one of the first in the state to compel its producers to test their herds and eradicate bovine tuberculosis, being the pioneers in this locality to adopt this drastic and effective measure at a considerable expense for the protection of its patrons.

By careful inspection of the producers' barns and dairies and rigid enforcement of the latest improved methods in handling they have been able to maintain the high standard of quality which has been a distinguishing feature of Golden Star products ever since the first quart of this milk was offered for sale in East Liverpool.

While paying especial attention to quality at all times, the company has never lost sight of the fact that prompt, courteous service is of equal importance.

YANKEES WILL BE DISMANTLED AT CLOSE OF SEASON

Huggins to Scrap Machine

Win or Lose, Champs Will be New Club Next Year.

By Davis J. Walsh.
(Copyrighted 1929 By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—Win or lose, the New York Yankee, three-time champions and one of the ranking ball clubs of all time, will be dismantled at the end of the 1929 season.

Miller Huggins, their manager, made this statement to the writer this morning, four days before the all-decisive series with the Athletics, a series calling for five games within a period of 72 hours. The fate of the 1929-28 champions will be determined by these games but, rise or fall, the Yankees, as we have known them, never will be the same again once the current season is ended. That much is ordained.

"Absolutely," said Huggins with great emphasis. "I'll have a different club on the field next year, regardless of whether they are champions at the time or just a ball club that used to be champs."

NATIONAL BATTling WARMS UP

Four League Leaders are Practically Dead-locked.

NEW YORK, June 17.—St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Chicago are practically deadlocked for the lead in the National league race this morning, and the fourth-place Giants are charged with only one more defeat than the pacesetter Cardinals. You couldn't get a much more exciting scramble by dropping a two-bit piece on the Bowers.

The Giants, who usually have to play a lone hand in inter-sectional battles, received unexpected help from the three weaker eastern outfits—Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Boston—on the western trip just concluded. Sporadic outbursts on the part of the latter trio halted the march of the three western leaders, as was the case yesterday, for example, when the lowly Braves knocked off the Cardinals twice, 9 to 8 and 6 to 5, and the Phillies handed the Cubs a 7 to 2 shellacking.

The Cardinals rallied desperately in the ninth inning of each encounter, but the Braves just managed to check each uprising in time.

Ray Benge of the Phillies struck out thirteen batters and yielded only five hits in beating the Cubs.

Burleigh Grimes, mound ace of the Pirates, was beaten by the tall-end Cincinnati team, 8 to 1, after the Bucs had won the first game of the double bill by an 8 to 3 count. Grimes had won ten games without a loss.

The Giants kept up their terrific slugging by manhandling the Brooklyn Robins, 11 to 4. Lindstrom had a perfect day at bat with two homers and a pair of singles, and Melott smacked his 14th homer.

The Athletics' winning streak of six straight victories was shattered when they lost a din-don slugfest to Cleveland, 10 to 4. Charlie Jamison saved the game with a diving catch of Bishop's liner in the ninth.

Celebrating his return to the lineup with a home run and a single, Bob Meusel helped the yankees tame the Tigers, 11 to 7. Detroit knocked Pennock and Moore out of the box. New York won the series, three out of four.

Four hits by Heinie Manush and the pitching of Kimsey, a Rookie, featured the Browns' 5 to 2 win over the Red Sox.

Pirpo Marberry won another game for Washington, besting Ted Lyons of the White Sox by a 5 to 3 score.

Tries Again

Walter Hagen has long been the most colorful and dramatic golfer of golfdom. American Open winner twice, British Open 4 times, the French, Belgian and many other important championships once or more, Hagen has captured the professional title five times in a row. Somehow ten years have passed since he won his last national open title. Maybe this year he can throw off the jinx and come through first.

Hands Unseen

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"

Loveable Outlaw.

By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

"What does she look like?"
"Can't tell you, for she wears a heavy veil. I should say she was young, and she certainly has spunk."
The other hesitated, glancing uneasily at the door.
"Funny thing!" muttered Wade. "There's nobody out-side our own crowd that knows you are staying here. Better let me handle her, boss."
The other's hesitancy lasted only a moment longer.
"No, I'll see her," he decided. "Show her in, Melton. Wade, see that nobody disturbs us."

The fat man rose reluctantly and followed Melton from the room. Cuthbert Canardy, alias The Gray Phantom, was alone, awaiting his mysterious visitor.

A few moments passed, then the door opened silently, and into the dim room, with a hint of suppressed voice in her motions, stepped a woman. A gray, fur-trimmed coat gave an air of unconscious jauntiness to her figure; a small black hat, with a single touch of red, sat at a becoming angle on her head. She advanced with the supple, swishing gait of youth, her veiled face turned fixedly toward the tall, gray-clad figure standing at the table.

"Phantom!" she whispered in a hushed breath, with a little catch in her throat that bespoke a mingling of gladness and dread. She tucked up her veil under her hat, revealing a firm, oval face, momentarily radiant despite the pallor that dimmed its youthful bloom.

"Helen!" Vanardy fell back a step as her face was unmasked, then came forward eagerly and took her hand with strange gentleness. He looked deep into her great, brown eyes, with a shadow lurking in their luminous depths, and then he stood as if her pallid, palpitant presence had thrown a spell over him. After a little while he stirred; a shadow passed across the vagrant glow that had entered his face.

"Helen, why did you—?"
"I had to come, Phantom Man." She disengaged her hand with a short, nervous twist and looked uneasily about the room. "I felt I should go mad unless I could have a few words with you." A pathetically whimsical smile tinged her lips. "No, one will do—just one little word. You understand, Phantom Man?"

You mean the—Craig matter?" There was a half-stifled ache in his tones as he looked into her eager, expectant face. "In that case my answer is no. I didn't do it."

Her eyes searched his face intently, her expression signifying a fervent desire to accept his disclaimer of guilt, even though the desire was tortured by doubt.

"I have just read the newspaper account, he told her. "It looks black, I admit, but I swear I had nothing to do with Craig's death."

Her eyes, with their quiet penetration, were still scrutinizing his face. "Those letters—" she began, speaking as if the words hurt her.

He nodded grimly. "I wrote some of them—the first two or three. The others, the ones that threatened Craig's life, were written by some one else. Some day we shall know how Craig's death came about, but at present I understand nothing. All I can say is that I didn't kill him. You believe, me, don't you, dear?"

She breathed hard, as if a stifling cramp had seized her. There was a tremor at the corners of her lips, a shuddering flicker in her eyes.

"I could bear anything else—even the dreadful uncertainty regarding my father—but not that," she told him. "I rather die than believe you capable of—of murder."

"I know," he said, awkwardly stroking her coiled hair beneath the brim of the hat. "I have been a fool—my mind has been a jumble of tangled odds and ends—but I haven't been guilty of that."

Her bafflingly inexorable eyes were still ransacking his face. "If you thought the truth would hurt me, wouldn't you lie to me?"

He hesitated, taken aback by her question. "Yes, I suppose I would," he admitted, smiling bitterly, "but I couldn't tell a lie successfully while looking straight into those very lovely and very wise eyes of yours."

For a moment longer she continued her scrutiny, then her face relaxed.

"I believe you, Phantom Man," she declared. "I shouldn't have doubted you, even for a moment, but when I saw that dreadful article in the newspapers, I felt I must have the truth from your own lips. For a month, ever since father disappeared, I have been wondering where you were. Nearly every day I have telephoned to Sea Gimpse, but your servants there had no news of you." She paused, and her face clouded. "Oh, Phantom Man, why did you do it?"

"Do what?" he asked lamely.

"Why did you disappear like that?"

"It was necessary. I sent you word that I intended to drop out of sight for a while, but that everything would be all right. I hoped you would trust me."

"I did until today. Then doubts took hold of me. With the anxiety I have suffered over father's disappearance, it nearly drove me frantic. I felt I must see you, but I didn't know where to find you. Then I suddenly remembered a leaflet I picked up somewhere about a week ago. It was entitled 'Put the Drugmongers in Jail!' I wasn't particularly interested, but something made me read to the end. The phraseology struck me as vaguely familiar."

"I see," said Vanardy awkwardly.

"I recalled that from time to time you had showed me certain manuscripts written by a friend of yours—Clifford Wade, I believe, was his name—who in odd moments amused himself with literary endeavors. This afternoon, when I was successfully looking straight into those very lovely and very wise eyes of yours, it suddenly struck me that the anonymous tirade against the drugmongers showed a marked similarity to style to the literary effusions of Clifford Wade."

Vanardy smiled faintly. "Yes, Wade writes with a flavor all his own."

"And so," the girl went on, "I looked up the address on the pamphlet and came here in the hope of finding you. I reasoned that if Mr. Wade were here you probably wouldn't be far away. It seems I was right. Phantom Man, what does it all mean?"

He lowered his eyes in bewilderment. "Haven't I convinced you I had nothing to do with Craig's death. Isn't that enough?"

"It's the main thing, but it isn't all." She looked about her with an indefinite dread in her eyes. "What are you doing here? It looks as if you were hiding yourself. And you admit writing some of those letters to Craig. There is a rumor that the Gray Phantom has gone back to his old mode of life. Is it true?"

Her feverish bright eyes were searching his face. He looked down at the desk.

"In a way it is true," he admitted grimly. A sob sounded in the ensuing stillness, and he raised his eyes. "You must go now," he said gently. "Some day everything will be made clear. Just now there are many things which you would not understand even if I tried to explain them. Have you received any news of your father?"

She shook her head. "His absence is bad enough, but to lose faith in you hurts just as much. How could you forget the promise you gave me that you would never again go back to the old life? You told me the past was dead, that you would spend the rest of your life living down your past mistakes. I trusted you, had faith in you, believed that you were strong enough to resist all temptations that came to drag you down. Now you have destroyed an illusion that was a part of my life. Oh, Phantom Man, how could you?"

He kept his eyes down, unable to witness the pain that was reflected in her face. Breathing hard, he gripped the edge of the desk until the muscles showed white.

"And all on account of a few paltry thousands, or a few miserable thrills," she went on, her voice edged with scorn and suffering. "You couldn't restrain your craving for sensations. To satisfy a vainglorious ambition, to prove once more that the Gray Phantom was invincible, you broke your promise to me, rode roughshod over the wreckage of my dearest hopes and—"

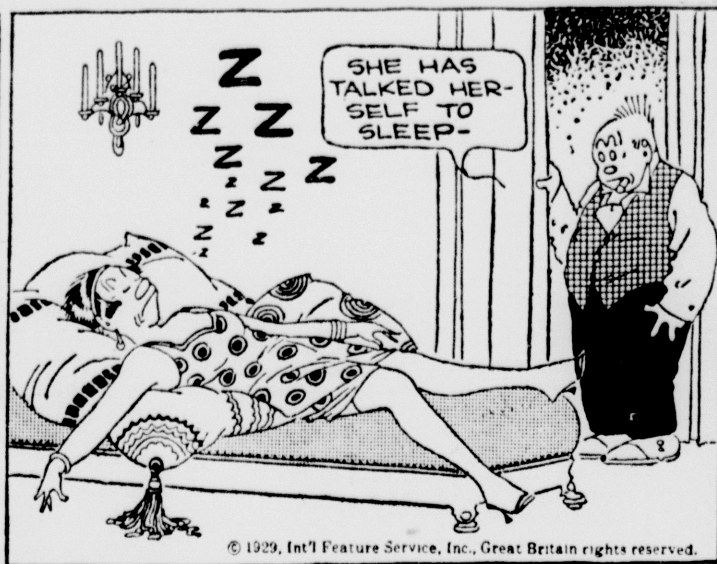

"Stop!" he said hoarsely, his chest expanding on a stifled groan. "Words can't remedy things, Helen. I am unworthy of you. I am bad—bad clear through. Your faith in me was misplaced. You trusted a moral weakling." He chuckled bitterly. "You should be glad that your eyes were opened in time, before it was too late."

ONE-DAY RECORD FOR MARRIAGE LICENSES BROKEN; 10 ARE ISSUED

Dan Cupid's Early Rush
Indicates June Mark of Bygone Years Will Fall.
Fall.

LISBON, O., June 17. — A one-day record for marriage licenses was established Saturday, when 10 licenses were issued between 11 and 12 o'clock. Should the ratio be continued during the remainder of June, the 1928 record of 83 will be broken.

The June license record for the last 22 years shows that 121 issued in 1923 was the peak, while June, 1918, has low, with 44.

Eight of the 29 applicants for marriage licenses Saturday were from Wellsville.

Licenses have been issued to Crooks Swift of Wellsville, formerly of Longbottom, and Miss Ruth Anderson, a bookkeeper, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Anderson, Wellsville. They will be married by the Rev. A. A. Reavly at Wellsville.

Kenneth H. Randall of Alliance, an electrician, and Miss Esther Sanders, of New Waterford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Sanders, have also been licensed.

Curtis Palmer of East Liverpool, a potter, and Miss Ruth Brown, daughter of Mr. J. J. Brown, East Liverpool, will be married in the latter city by the Rev. A. H. O'Brien.

Walter F. Wilcox, of Riverhead, N. Y., a radio operator, and Miss Cora E. Seekins, of Salem, formerly of Southbridge, Mass., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Seekins, were married in Salem by the Rev. S. L. Ross.

Park Hulton, a miner residing at East Palestine, and Estelle Dyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dyke of Negley, have obtained a marriage license and were married by Mayor H. D. Cope at Rogers.

Harry O. Huntsman, of Wellsville, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., a millworker, and Miss Frances Metts, of Wellsville, a store manager, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Metts, have been granted a marriage license.

Frank C. Dales, a millworker, and Miss Margaret M. Heakin, a school teacher and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Heakin, Wellsville, were licensed to wed. They will be married at Carrollton by the Rev. W. S. Rowe.

Ralph McIntire, of Carrollton, a farmer, and Miss Margaret F. Amos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Amos, Lisbon, were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. C. N. Church.

Vernon McConnell, of East Liverpool, formerly of Kittanning, Pa., a pottery worker, and Miss Wilma Weaver, of Wellsville, formerly of Martina Ferry, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Weaver, were married here.

Louis W. Sheppard, of Wellsville, a former resident of Marietta, and a millworker, and Miss Opal Ross, also of Wellsville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ross, were married by the Rev. Jarvis M. Cotton at the parsonage of the Lisbon Presbyterian church.

$650 DAMAGES ASKED IN CRASH

As a result of an automobile wreck in East Lincoln way, Lisbon, on last Sept. 1, A. I. and Lydia M. Voshel have filed an action in common pleas court against Della Syvies, 311 East Third street, East Liverpool, seeking $650 damages. The petition alleges the defendant was driving a sedan at excessive speed in the center of the highway and struck a car owned by the plaintiffs as it was about to turn from Lincoln way into Pritchard avenue. The plaintiff gave proper warning of intent to make such a turn, the petition says.

MIDDLETON OIL ACREAGE LEASED

Indicating a new oil development, leases on 193 additional acres in Middleton township have been acquired by B. E. Delbie. The Bell heirs have leased 60 acres, J. A. Young and wife, 53 acres, and D. W. Guy and wife, 80 acres.

According to the terms of the lease the owners of the property will receive a one-eighth oil interest on all oil produced, and $150 for each producing gas well.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following real estate transfers have been filed for record:

S. W. Wade to Minerva B. Ray, lot 175 in Gaston Place, St. Clair township, $10.

Lula B. Smith and others to Earl Shaffer, lots 42 and 43 in Blomfield addition, Liverpool township, $10; Earl Shaffer and wife to S. L. Coventry, same lots, $1.

Affidavit for transfer of real estate inherited from Cynthia A. Hively by John F. Hively, 79 acres in section 8, Unity township.

Walter Yeagley and others to Regina Rosler, 35 acres in section 18, Knox township, $1.

Regina Rosler to Michael Ziegler, 15.03 acres in section 18, Knox township, $1.

RULINGS MADE IN 10 ACTIONS

Verdict for $175 in Suit Against E.
Liverpool.

Proceedings in aid of execution were dismissed in the case of the General Motors Acceptance company, against F. M. Hall, and a trial to the court followed. The defendant by agreement will pay to counsel for the plaintiff $5 bi-weekly until a judgment on a note for $129.57 is satisfied. The defendant will also pay the costs.

A jury returned a verdict for $175 in the suit for $350 filed by Harry G. Peppel against the City of East Liverpool. A motion for a new trial has been waived. The case was based on an accident claim.

In the appeal case of H. A. Barnes against John Call, a jury has returned a verdict for $34 and costs.

There has been a settlement out of court in the foreclosure action filed by the City Trust & Savings Bank of Youngstown against Francis H. Har- old.

The report of the commissioners has been confirmed and Judge W. F. Duncan, in common pleas court No. 2, has issued an order of sale for the tract of land referred to in the partition filed by Arthur L. Evans against Mary Camp and others.

Decree of distribution has been entered and counsel fees for $500 allowed in the action filed by the First National Bank of East Palestine against Samuel White.

An entry overruling the demurrer to the petition has been struck out by the court and the demurrer to the McMahon Piano Company, against Raymond Christin, a case carried from a lower court to common pleas on appeal.

The court has sustained a motion on the fifth specification of negligence in the amended petition in the damage action filed recently by John C. Swickard, as administrator, against the Youngstown & Ohio River Railroad Company.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled and a judgment on the verdict has been entered in the case of the Household Utilities corporation against C. A. McGeehen. In a jury trial April 23, a verdict for the defendant was returned.

In the suit of Howard H. Parsons against H. E. and Herbert Parsons, an action to recover $1,080, the third and fifth ground of the motion to the petition have been sustained.

Mrs. Thelma McFeely Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Thelma McFeely, of Salem, who married Jackson McFeely at New Cumberland, W. Va., Dec. 29, 1926, has filed her petition for divorce in common pleas court, through her next friend, Raymond E. Groves.

Mrs. McFeely charges extreme cruelty. Her petition alleges her husband choked her and that he struck her and also discolored her eyes and called her vile names. The couple has one child, aged 2.

CONTEMPT CHARGE IN ALIMONY CASE

Louis M. Capehart, defendant in a divorce action recently filed by his wife, Romaine E. Capehart, has been ordered to show cause at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in common pleas court why he should not be punished for contempt. On May 8, Mrs. Capehart was divorced and granted alimony.

Allan Lane - Marjorie Beebe

A drama filled with heart interest and provided with ample comedy relief which relates how a former vaudeville performer, in her middle forties, half owner and chief entertainer of a speakeasy, saves her own daughter, whom she has not seen since babyhood, from ruin, though she has to compromise herself cruelly.
